Design of Serial Comparison Model for the Diachronic Corpus Study of Japanese

Makiro Tanaka

National Institute for Japanese Language and Linguistics, Japan (NINJAL)

- Development of Diachronic Corpus by NINJAL; 2009–13, 4 year project.
- Collection of classical Japanese literary works from 9th century to 12th century
- A Case Study: use of Sakura (cherry blossoms) in Mt. Yoshino: a comparison of two poem anthologies

